- “What was” series  - Nonfiction series about places and events (What was D-day?  What were the twin towers?  What was the Declaration of Independence?) various authors
- Eyewitness Books  - Nonfiction books on multitude of topics with award winning photographs (Dinosaurs, Mythology, Knights and Castles, Space, Volcanoes, Titanic) DK Publishing
- Guiness Book of World Records
- Ripleys Believe It or Not
- Eyewitness Classics  – Classic stories retold with photos, illustrations, and factual content about era, people, and society.  (Black Beauty, Dracula, Robin Hood, A Christmas Carol, Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde) DK Publishing with various authors
- F in Exams/F for Effort, etc.  – Richard Benson, multiple books showing actual answers to tests, homework, and quiz questions.  Some real answers are obvious guesses and some are to show how poorly written the questions were.  Advanced sense of humor and puns – my kids thought these were hilarious when other people didn’t understand why they were funny!  A must!
• The Book of Totally Irresponsible Science: 64 Daring Experiments for Young Scientists – Sean Connoly; book of science experiments using everyday objects, got this as a great gift that came with balloons, baking soda, baggies, straws and other items needed for the experiments

Work/Play/Puzzles Books

• The Greatest Dot to Dot Book in the World – (multiple books) Not your standard dot-to-dots, puzzles average 150 dots and may also contain puzzle-dot-to-dots, David Kalvitis

• XXX Mazes – Roger Moreau, not your average easy mazes, complicated and with great illustrations (Wizard Magic Mazes, Treasure Hunt Mazes, Backyard Bug Mazes, etc.)

• Mindware Word Winks – book of visual and verbal puzzles and puns, a picture is shown and you must figure out the phrase (like the word MIND sitting on top of the word MATTER would be Mind over Matter)

• Soduku and KenKen books – Soduku is a logic game where you must put numbers into a grid, KenKen takes soduku one step further by using match equations to give hints on the numbers

• Mad Libs – book of 1 page stories where words have been omitted, players are asked to provide a noun, verb, adjective, etc. without knowing the context of the story, SILLY and a classic!

Phone & Tablet Apps

• Quizlet – creates flash cards and multiple choice questions based on facts you enter for studying/quizzes/tests

• Stack the States and Stack the Countries – geography games that are based on locations, shapes, capitals, flags and more
